2014 Logan Chieftain Coaching Staff

Billy Burke
Head Coach

Billy Burke was named Logan's 30th head football coach prior to the 2013 season. In his first year as the Chieftain mentor, Burke guided the Chieftains to their 26th SEOAL Championship and a 6-4 overall record. A 1995 graduate of Lancaster High School, Burke played linebacker at the University of Akron while earning his bachelor's degree in education. He additionally earned a master's degree from the University of Dayton. Burke served as the head coach at Medina Buckeye High School from 2007-2011. Prior to his stint at Buckeye he served as an assistant coach at Hilliard Darby High School from 2002-2007.

Burke and his wife Shannon have three sons Jackson, Brody, and Landon.

Varsity Staff:

Order Restored: The 2013 Logan Chieftains

By Spencer Waugh

2013 brought a new coach and a new attitude to Logan Chieftain Stadium. The goal from the preseason was to “Restore Order” – a declaration of intent to return discipline, expectations, and a winning attitude to Chieftain Football.

Mission Accomplished. The 2013 Chieftains rebounded from an 0-2 start and the loss of a starting quarterback in week one to finish 6-4, and most importantly, 4-0 in the SEOAL to clinch the first SEOAL championship since 2009.

Aug. 30, 2013 - AT Lancaster – Loss, 07-57

Lancaster turned the ball over three times in the game’s first nine minutes while Logan took a 7-0 lead on a touchdown pass from Nick Kost to Kevin Fisher, but the Gales rebounded to reel off 57 unanswered points in a total rout of the purple and white. Lancaster ran for 518 yards, the most ever allowed by a Logan defense. Sophomore quarterback Lane Little broke his collarbone late in the third quarter and would not return until late in the season.

Sept. 6, 2013 – VS Teays Valley – Loss, 13-26

Without Little, a revamped Logan offense struggled to move the football against Teays Valley while the Vikings scored 13 points on three possessions in the final :50 of the first half. Thad Smith kicked two field goals from 31 and 44 yards in the half’s final :19. Isaac Schmeltzer’s 95-yard kick-off return for touchdown was a highlight for Logan. The Chieftains managed only 87 yards of total offense in the game.

Sept. 13, 2013 – VS Newark – WIN, 32-27

Logan raced to an early 19-0 lead against the pass heavy Wildcats. Schmeltzer led Logan with three touchdowns and 180 yards rushing while Kost added 105 yards and a score from the quarterback position. Darius Shackelford caught 14 passes for 269 yards and three touchdowns for Newark. In the high scoring shoot out, neither team scored in the fourth quarter.

Sept. 20, 2013 – VS Loudonville – Loss, 7-31

Loudonville completely dominated Logan, holding the Chieftains to minus-6 total yards of offense including minus-30 yards rushing. Despite the domination, the Red Birds only led 14-7 at the half thanks to Evan DeLong’s school-record 101-yard interception return in the second quarter. Kolton Edmondson scored three times for Loudonville who rushed for 338 total yards.

Sept. 27, 2013 – AT Nelsonville-York – WIN, 14-12

The Chieftains broke a two-game losing streak in comeback style against old rivals Nelsonville-York, winning 14-12. Logan barely touched the ball in the first quarter after fumbling the opening kickoff and going three and out in their first possession. The Buckeyes led 6-0 when Nathan Cocks caught his first career touchdown pass early in the second quarter and Kevin Fisher caught another Kost pass in the third quarter for the winning margin. The Buckeyes battled back for a score with 5:38 to play, but their two point try was stopped.

Oct. 4, 2013 – VS Portsmouth (SEOAL) – WIN, 54-27

Logan opened SEOAL play with a record setting performance against Portsmouth, running for a school record 562 yards en route to a 54-27 victory. Evan DeLong returned the game’s opening kickoff 85 yards for a touchdown, Bryce McBride broke multiple tackles on the way to a 99-yard touchdown run, and all Schmeltzer did was run for five total touchdowns. Both Schmeltzer and McBride ran for 223 yards for the purple and white. Sky Oliver passed for 232 yards for the visitors, but was intercepted five times (twice by Casey Phillips).

Oct. 11, 2013 – VS Jackson (SEOAL) – WIN, 28-21

Jackson controlled the line of scrimmage in the first half, but managed only seven points. Logan answered to take a 21-13 lead late in the game behind a pair of touchdown passes from Kost to Isaiah Smith (14 and 69 yards) and a 24-yard scoring run by Kost. Jackson put together a tremendous drive capped by a 19-yard scoring pass from Hunter Sexton to Jake Crabtree with Sexton finding Gabe Griffiths for the tying two point conversion. The game seemed destined for overtime, but a great kick-off return by Schmeltzer opened the door for Kost's game-winning 7-yard scoring run. The win over Jackson gave Logan control of their own destiny for the SEOAL title.

Oct. 18, 2013 – AT Zanesville – Loss, 13-58

Zanesville's season would end in a heart breaking loss in the state semifinal. Their game against Logan will be a more enjoyable memory. Thomas Wibbeler passed for 424 yards and 6 touchdowns as Logan had no answer for the Blue Devils' deep and talented group of receivers and skill players. Schmeltzer returned his second kick off for touchdown, equalling an LHS team record for a single season (DeLong returned a kick for TD against Portsmouth). Logan was the last team to score against Zanesville until New Albany did so in the Regional Final.

Oct. 25, 2013 – AT Gallipolis (SEOAL) – WIN, 35-21

Needing a win against the preseason favorites to secure a share of the SEOAL title, Logan again used the come from behind method to knock out the Blue Devils on their home field. Wade Jarrell ran for a 42-yard score on the Devils' opening drive, but Logan answered with three straight touchdowns; runs by Kost (12 yards) and Schmeltzer (30 yards) and a Kost to Smith 23 yard pass gave Logan the 21-7 lead. Jarrell tossed a TD pass late in the first half cut the deficit to 21-14. Logan missed an opportunity to score at the close of the half. Gallipolis tied the score at 21 each right after halftime, but a 33-yard pass to Fisher re-established Logan's lead and Schmeltzer crashed in from 2-yards out for the winning margin.

Nov. 1, 2013 – VS Warren (SEOAL) – WIN, 49-22

In his final game at Logan Chieftain Stadium, Schmeltzer tore apart the Warren defense running for 275 yards and six touchdowns. Schmeltzer caught a 7th touchdown on a 10-yard pass from Nick Kost to establish a new Chieftain single-game scoring record. The win clinched Logan's 26th SEOAL Championship and the first for LHS mentor Billy Burke.

2014 Logan Chieftain Football Preview

By CRAIG DUNN
Sports Editor
cdunn@logandaily.com

LOGAN — Because they were able to re-focus and adapt to changes they were forced to make on the fly, the 2013 Logan Chieftains turned what could have been a disastrous start into their 26th Southeastern Ohio Athletic League football championship and the program's first winning season in four years.

So it would stand to reason that, if the '13 Chiefs could change their identity on the fly in just a few weeks — an injury to sophomore starting quarterback Lane Little forced the Purple & White to transition into a ground offense with a QB who was basically another running back — imagine what the '14 Chiefs should be able to do with plenty of preparation time to transition back to what they wanted to be in the first place.

"We absolutely did things on the fly last year, which is something you never want to do," recalled Logan coach Billy Burke. "This year we want to make sure we have everybody playing their natural positions and keep them there if at all possible. We've been happy with where we are because the kids are getting repetitions at their (natural) positions."

Now in his second season as head coach, Burke's had more than a year to fully learn the strengths and weaknesses of each and every player... not that he (or his coaching staff) did a bad job of doing that last season.

"What we were able to accomplish last year was a positive experience for the kids who are on the team this year," Burke recalled, "especially in facing adversity early in the season and for them to see (that) good things will happen if you'll just stick with it.

"We've transitioned into this year understanding a little bit more of what it takes because we just came off a successful season," he continued. "Our leaders and our seniors have a good understanding of what it takes, and they've done a pretty good job of leading our team in that direction. I'm pretty happy with where we are as a team right now." After Little was injured in the third quarter of Logan's season-opening 57-7 shellacking at Lancaster, the Chiefs basically had to start almost from scratch and implement a new offense that moved running back Nick Kost into Little's spot behind center.

Once the Purple & White got their bearings, it worked.

Logan overcame a 1-3 start to win five of its last six games — losing only to Zanesville, which came within a whisker of reaching the state Division II championship game — and finished 6-4.

Isaac Schmeltzer (1,040 rushing yards and 17 rushing touchdowns) earned SEOAL MVP and third-team Division II All-Ohio honors. He and Kost (626 rushing yards, five rushing TD)

are among 20 graduated seniors who, as a poster printed in the off-season read, helped to get “Order Restored.”

While the 2014 Chiefs hope to build off that momentum, they’ll have to do so by rebuilding with personnel who don’t enter the season with nearly as much varsity experience as the ’13 team did.

Still, although they only have 42 players (14 seniors, 15 juniors and 13 sophomores) on their varsity roster, the Chiefs return 15 lettermen and have more athletic ability than you might think, especially at the skill positions.

Burke stressed that those seniors will be vital to this team’s success.

“I pulled the seniors aside, because they’re the oldest, and I said ‘I haven’t known you guys very long, but what I understand of this group is that they have not had a lot of success as a group of seniors, meaning from their freshman year on up, and maybe dating back to seventh or eighth grade,’” Burke said. “But I had to tell them that they’ve done a fabulous job as leaders of the program” thus far. “I think we’re as good as we are right now because of the leadership that they’ve shown,” he continued. “That’s tough, too, when they haven’t had a lot of success to understand what it’s all about to be good. But they’ve taken the experience from last year and they’ve really transitioned. As a player who’s going to be a senior (the following year) you ought to be evaluating how the seniors the year before are as leaders, whether good or bad, and take from that what didn’t work well and what you really like.

“You lead with your style, but take the information and the lessons learned from the year before.”

Burke pointed out that it’s no different than what a coach would do.

“There are coaches I’ve worked for that I took things from and things I would never do that they did,” he said. “That’s what you do as a leader: you pick and choose what fits your style and at the same time what’s worked and what hasn’t worked.” Even though they’re defending SEOAL champions, the Chiefs might fly under the radar. Because Jackson — whom they dethroned as league champions last fall — returns 11 starters on offense and 10 on defense, and has 18 seniors on its roster, the Ironmen are likely to be picked to win the league.

Still, it would be a big mistake for any team on Logan’s 2014 schedule to overlook the Chiefs.

When he was named head coach in the winter of 2013, Burke said he would adapt his teams to best take advantage of the abilities of the personnel that were available. That’s just what he did last fall, and it’s just what he plans to do this season.

While the Chiefs will be a diverse team that could flood the field with receivers on one play and then put three running backs behind a pair of tight ends on the next, Burke notes this new Logan team — which is blessed with an abundance of talented receivers — is far-better geared toward the putting the ball in the air.

They don't have a lot of running backs, but the ones they do have are talented, led by junior (and two-year letterman) Bryce McBride (505 yards, three TD in 2013). With Little — now a junior — healthy and ready to once again take the offensive snaps, Burke and the Chiefs plan to throw the ball much more.

You can bet the Chiefs will throw more than the 94 passes they attempted (Kost threw 78 and Little a dozen) last fall... heck, Little threw 24 times in less than three quarters during last Friday's OHSAA Jamboree scrimmage at Sheridan.

"It's always nice to have a quarterback capable of throwing the football. That just adds another dynamic to your offense," said Burke. Little is "also very cerebral. Coach (Brian) Breining and he have worked together for a couple years and Lane's pretty good at diagnosing a defense and seeing what a defense is running coverage-wise. "He knows what his first read (and his) second read are, and when you do that it allows you to get the ball out quicker," he added.

"So when you diagnose a coverage, you see where you're going to go with the ball unless something else happens. It appears you have a quick release, but you've recognized the coverage and know what route is going to come open. "He's done a great job. He's a great leader by example; he goes about his business, works hard and throws a good football and can execute the throws. He's going to have to because we have several receivers who are going to get the football and get it in different situations. I feel pretty good about him at quarterback. We have to do a good job protecting him."

The Chiefs return their top two receivers — junior Isaiah Smith (14 receptions for 199 yards and three touchdowns) and senior Nathan Cocks (12 catches, 131 yards, one TD) — as well as big 6-foot-9 senior tight end Kevin Fisher, who caught four passes... three of them for touchdowns.

Little will have plenty of weapons. "There will be lots of times when we have four receivers in the game," Burke said. "We have (senior) Chance Cox back this year; Nathan Cocks is a great fundamental route-runner; (senior) Casey Phillips is going to come in and provide us with some big plays; (senior) Joe Foltz will come in and do some big things, and Isaiah Smith is back and has a nice connection with Lane. "But I'm not afraid of having a (junior) Brendan Karns come in the game and playing receiver," he added. "He can have quality repetitions on offense. And Jenson Wallace has had a nice camp as a sophomore and is a bit of a pleasant surprise. He's come in and made some nice plays. "Sometimes people view a spread offense as basketball on grass. I think it's a great problem to have to have athletes who do multiple things and are good out in space. That's a lot of what our team's going to be: finding the best matchup to get an Isaiah Smith, or a Chance Cox, or a Casey Phillips in the right position so they can accentuate their strengths and also exploit a defense's weakness."

Senior Dean Jordan joins McBride in the backfield.

“We're going to be solid at running back,” Burke said. “Dean Jordan and Bryce McBride are going to play a lot of A-back, but at the same time they'll also play our B-back, which is like a fullback-type of position. They're also both linebackers for us, so we can't have a guy who's always carrying the football also be a linebacker. “Last year was nice when our A-back (Schmeltzer) only played offense,” he added. “If I could hand-pick, I'd pick my quarterback and my A-back and they would only play offense (and then) the defense could have the next-best guys. But we don't have that (luxury) this year, so we'll have to do a good job managing our substitutions and repetitions so those guys play good defense and at the same time give us a legitimate threat at running back.”

“Colton Stilwell can come in and play some fullback. We're asking him to do some different things here and there to add some diversity to our offense as kind of a B-back/H-back, referring to the H-back (who isn't) necessarily a fullback or tight end but who has a diverse skill-set that we can take advantage of.”

The Chiefs have had to re-tool their defense. Their primary concern is that a lot of the players who will comprise the offensive line will also be carrying the D-line load as well.

“We feel better about where we are defensively,” Burke said. “It's year number two for me, and the coaches have worked with me for a year now, so it's a little less of 'what's coach Burke looking for?' as opposed to having worked together an off-season designing something that fits our kids defensively.”

“If you come in and tell a group 'this is what I want you to do,' I don't know if it can be executed as well as 'let's sit down and create something together. Now it's yours, so you understand the nuances of your scheme and what it is you're trying to accomplish as opposed to just executing somebody's else's,” he added. “The terminology's the same — we tweak it a little bit — positions are the same, so it's a year under their belt of the scheme and the system, which helps them play a lot faster and be more comfortable.”

Size — as in heights, weights and sheer numbers — will likely come into play right off the bat next Friday night when the Chiefs host Lancaster in the final game of that season-opening series.

“Week one's always going to be tough when you're facing a (Lancaster) team and program that has more kids,” Burke said. “It's sort of a war of attrition... you can only hold off for so long until you get overwhelmed with numbers. “That's always tough,” he added, “but I do feel good about the dynamic of our team this year and what we're able to do against other teams.”

With a schedule that only has one different foe (Meigs replaces Newark) from last season, Burke's in a better position to get a handle on his opponents this season.

“When I assess them from a year ago, I feel pretty good about our schedule,” Burke said. “I don't know much about Meigs (on the schedule for the first time in more than 30 years), but I like how we match up against teams on our schedule.”

The schedule is tough. Although only Zanesville and Loudonville made the playoffs last season, as many as six or seven Chieftain foes could have winning records this fall. "I don't think that's a surprise," Burke said. "Those teams are tough, and there's no getting around that, but I feel good about the things we can do and the type of defense that we're playing right now."

Not many teams in the state have as diverse of a schedule as the Chiefs, who play at least one team from six of the OHSAA's seven playoff divisions: Lancaster (Division I), Teays Valley and Zanesville (D2), Jackson (D3), Gallipolis, Meigs and Warren (D4), Portsmouth (D5) and Nelsonville-York and Loudonville (D6). "I feel good about how we match up week-to-week," Burke said. "It comes down to coaches figuring out schemes and ways to get our players in the best possible positions so we can maximize their potential. We don't (want to) drop a game because coaches weren't prepared." The first five games — home games with Lancaster and Nelsonville-York, sandwiched around road games at Teays Valley, Meigs and Loudonville — will be a good test for the Chiefs before they begin defense of their SEOAL title starting week six at Portsmouth. The Trojans may very well have the best sheer athletes the Purple & White will face this season. "When you've beaten everybody in the league the year before, you figure you're going to get everybody's best game the following year," Burke said. "It's easy to climb to the top of the mountain and win the trophy, but it's harder to keep everybody at bay who wants the trophy that's in your hands. We have a huge challenge ahead of us to do that." Logan plays six of its 10 games away from Logan Chieftain Stadium, with those road trips taking them on nearly 800 round-trip miles. "We'll be road warriors — us against the world, whatever you want to say," Burke said. "We have to be on the road six times, and our last scrimmage (last Friday at Sheridan was) on the road, too, so that's like seven road games. But I like where our team is and I think we'll do a nice job handling everything."

Let the games begin.

2013 Chieftain Preview: Position By Position

In two parts: OFFENSE and DEFENSE

OFFENSE

By CRAIG DUNN

LOGAN — Plans to run a wide-open offense had to be scrapped last season when the Logan Chieftains lost their starting quarterback to an injury in the very first week.

The Purple & White regrouped, however, and wound up being quite effective with a ground-based, option offense that rolled over, through and around most opposition defenses the final six games of the season, powering their way to a Southeastern Ohio Athletic League championship in the process.

Now that junior QB Lane Little is healthy again, the Chiefs plan to put him to work getting the ball to several talented receivers.

“We had the personnel to do what we wanted to do last year,” second-year head coach Billy Burke says. “Our quarterback (Nick Kost) had a different skill-set. If you count Nick, we had four running backs in the game a lot of times. That’s what we had to do.”

Once the kinks were worked out, it worked well for the Purple & White.

In 2014, while the Chiefs figure they can both run the ball and put it in the air, it will be up to Little to get the ball to as many as a half-dozen different receivers.

“It’s a very good problem to have,” Burke said. “Coach (Brian) Breining and I have talked that we might have to have a tally chart to make sure (all the main receivers) get a couple touches. You want to reward kids for the hard work and energy they put in — but, at the same time, when we have a playmaker and he hasn’t touched the ball but one time in the first half, that’s not good. We want to get our playmakers some touches.

“It keeps everything in the game plan in play,” he added. “You don’t necessarily have to come up with different ways to execute a running play; you can throw the football, and vice-versa. I believe we’ll be able to run the football and set up the pass and complement each other both running and passing.”

To do so, however, they will need protection from a revamped offensive line — the Chiefs graduated all of their full-time starters — that could average between 250 and 260 pounds but has little varsity experience.

“I think (the O-line) was a concern for some people going into the season,” Burke said, “but when I put names up on the board I liked the offensive linemen that we had. They just lacked experience.

Henthorne and Martin can play all along the O-line, with Skinner and Hayden at tackles.

“We might be a little bit light in the depth department,” Burke noted, “but in the skill department we’re probably better on the offensive line now than we were a year ago at the exact same time — we just need to make up for a lack of experience.”

Seniors Kevin Fisher (6-9, 230) and D.J. Madison (6-2, 215) give the Chiefs some nice options at tight end.

“Again, it’s a nice problem to have” having two solid tight ends, Burke said. “We have a couple running backs we like and a couple tight ends that we like, (and) multiple receivers that we like, which means we can give a different look on offense each and every down or however we design the game plan.

“We have good tight ends who allow us to establish our running game,” he continued. “You might see four receivers or three running backs or two tight ends, and that’s not easy for a defense to prepare for.

“I like our entire group (of linemen). It’s a matter of figuring out a good substitution pattern, because those are the same guys who play on our defensive line as well.”

Little (5-11, 155) more than makes up for a lack of stature with an excellent and accurate arm, running speed, leadership, plenty of heart and a lot of guts and determination... not necessarily in that order.

“This game is about taking guys to the ground as forcefully as we can,” Burke said, “and we want to limit the opportunities for defenses to do that to him... but at the same time, he’s a tough kid and he’s a competitor, and sometimes that’s easier said than done. He just needs to be smart because we’re a better team when he’s out there on the field.

“Maybe the injury he had last season (a broken collarbone in the third quarter of the season opener at Lancaster) could have happened to anybody,” he added. “We don’t know, but we make the assumption because he’s a little smaller in stature. But there have been a lot of quarterbacks his size... it’s just a matter of (the offensive) scheme being able to maximize what the quarterback can do.”

Little certainly showed no fear in last Friday's OHSAA Jamboree scrimmage at Sheridan when he scrambled 38 yards for a third-quarter touchdown. It would have been easy for him to run out of bounds after a 10- or 15-yard gain, but he kicked into high gear and outran the defense to the corner of the end zone.

"We unfortunately lost Lane, our throwing quarterback, at the beginning of last year to an injury, so we went to more of a play-action pass-and-run-dominated scheme," Burke said. "We have (Little) back this year, so we've changed the scheme up a little bit so we can accentuate some of his strengths while at the same time take advantage of the six, seven, eight receivers that we really feel comfortable with.

"We have to find a way to protect him up front and get (those receivers) the ball, and to change the scheme to pocket-protect Lane," he added.

Junior Isaiah Smith (6-4, 190) and senior Nathan Cocks (5-9, 160) led the Chiefs in receptions last season and will be among Little's many targets.

"There will be lots of times when we have four receivers in the game," Burke said. "We have (senior) Chance Cox (6-2, 155) back this year; Nathan Cocks is a great fundamental route-runner; (senior) Casey Phillips (6-2, 160) is going to come in and provide us with some big plays; (senior) Joe Foltz (6-2, 175) will come in and do some big things, and Isaiah Smith is back and has a nice connection with Lane."

Little can also throw to junior Brendan Karns (5-9, 175) and sophomore Jenson Wallace (6-0, 150) as well as the two tight ends.

Junior Bryce McBride (5-11, 190) is the leading returning ground-gainer from last season, and he'll be joined at running back by senior Dean Jordan (5-11, 200). Junior Colton Stilwell (5-9, 200) will also see time in the backfield.

Although Logan will be a pass-first offense, opponents best not snooze when the Chiefs hand the ball off. However, with all three of those running backs also being linebackers on defense, Burke says it will be imperative to keep them as fresh as possible.

"We've talked about managing the repetitions of guys so we can keep everybody at their freshest and best at any point in the game," he pointed out. "Sometimes you just feel more comfortable with certain people and you tend to leave them in too long because at their freshest they're one of the best but when they're tired maybe they're not."

DEFENSE

LOGAN — Many of the players who will be trying to put points on the scoreboard on offense for the Logan Chieftains this season will be the same ones trying to prevent them on defense.

Finding a way to keep those players as fresh as possible will be a season-long challenge for the Purple & White.

“The A-number one (challenge) for us is to manage our substitution patterns,” said Logan coach Billy Burke. “Each week, each team is going to give us a different dynamic as to how much we play kids in whatever position.

For example, “Lancaster is going to be running the football — I think we all know that — but when we face a Portsmouth, they’ll probably spread the field out more (and) we’ll have opportunities to put another defensive back in the game,” he added.

“We’ve instituted more of a package situation where we get specific kids on the field with specific skill-sets against a certain offensive scheme.”

Most of Logan’s offensive linemen will double on the D-line; the Chiefs’ three main running backs are linebackers, and most of Logan’s receivers are also in the defensive backfield. Logan could have as many as eight or nine athletes playing both ways.

While talented and versatile, many are also inexperienced.

“We played a pretty aggressive style of defense last year where we committed a lot of guys to the run and man-coverage behind that. That was pretty good to us,” Burke said. “But at the same time, you don’t want to make a living doing something like that each and every week. Teams from a year ago have a chance to look at it and diagnose it and find things to counter-act.

“We’ve gone back to more of a traditional base-type of scheme in which we’ll make pre-determined calls who we’re going to blitz, what covers we’re going to run, and not necessarily have to commit guys to overwhelm the (other team’s) offense,” he added. “We can play more fundamentally and still play great defense.”

The defensive line, Burke notes, will be packaged into different situational groups.

“Kevin Fisher (6-foot-9, 230 pounds), D.J. Madison (6-2, 215) and Kory Henthorne (6-6, 255) are playing some solid defensive end for us, not to mention Tommy Hayden (6-3, 210) — you kind of forget his name because he’s so consistent and he gets taken for granted,” Burke said.

“On the interior are Zach Buckley (6-0, 295), Brandon Skinner (6-0, 290), Keith Martin (6-1, 260), Josh Rardain (6-0, 200) and Will Esteph (6-1, 205).

“If we keep our defensive linemen fresh, that keeps the pressure on an offense... it makes it a little easier on your linebackers and your secondary to still get after the football and get a good pass rush,” he continued. “Kids still are still aggressive and have to be blocked up front and (opponents) have a hard time getting to our second level.”

The Chiefs’ inside linebackers — Bryce McBride (5-11, 190), Dean Jordan (5-11, 200) and Colton Stilwell (5-9, 200) — are also their running backs.

“We don't necessarily have the luxury of getting a ton of linebackers rotated through,” Burke admitted. “We have guys we feel confident in, but we want to keep the defensive line fresh and still keep after the quarterback and execute on the line to take away the running game.

“Two of our outside linebacker positions are going to be filled by Caleb Lewellen (6-2, 180), Brendan Karns (5-9, 175) and Domonic Micochero (5-9, 175),” he added. “If we can teach a Domonic Micochero an inside linebacker position, that can help add to our depth. We think he’s got some skill sets (to move him around), but at the same time we want him to feel good about where he's playing on the outside before we go tinkering with moving him all over the place.”

Seniors Brandon Arnett (6-0, 160) and Joe Foltz (6-2, 175) will be the Chiefs’ staples at cornerback.

“Brandon has a year under his belt last year and Joe's played corner pretty well for us this year,” Burke said. “That can allow everybody else who rotates in a lot at receiver to come in and spell some time and play some and situational football in the secondary. At the same time, Brandon can still contribute at running back and Joe can still contribute as a receiver.”

Senior Casey Phillips (6-2, 160) is the free safety. Phillips and Arnett both had three interceptions to lead the Logan defense last fall.

Phillips “has really blossomed this year,” Burke praised. “I feel really good about Casey being our free safety. I think he's going to get his hands on a lot of footballs this season. He's matured and developed confidence.

“It's comforting to know the free safety is somebody you can really count on, because a lot of times he has to erase some mistakes that happen (up front) from time to time,” he continued. “He's very athletic, and now that he's comfortable with what he's doing, it gives him the confidence to play his position a lot faster.”

Burke noted that having receivers on offense also filling the defensive back positions serves a dual purpose when learning the two positions.

“They’re sort of playing the counter-position on offense to their defensive position,” he stated. “It teaches them the nuance of their position. If we play a (certain) coverage, how would you beat it as a receiver? At the same time, these are things you want to anticipate as a defensive back against a receiving corps because you play receiver.”

Jordan was the Chiefs’ primary punter last season (34 yards per kick on 22 punts) and retains those duties this year. Chance Cox (6-2, 155) takes over for the graduated Charles Bowlby for placement kicks.

“You put an athlete in there (to kick) and he’ll find a way to get it done,” Burke said. “I’m not sure what (Cox’s) range is yet, but if it’s 20 yards (to convert an extra point) we’ll feel pretty good about that.”

Logan has not made a field goal since the 2011 season.

Cox, Isaiah Smith (6-4, 190) and Phillips are the primary kickoff and punt returners. Rardain serves as the short snapper for placement kicks and McBride will be the long snapper for punts.

Top 10 LHS Traditions

Below are the top 10 traditions related to Logan High School football, as chosen by LoganFootball.com.

Tradition

10. - The Robert Dee Gabriel Memorial Color Guard. They present the colors before each home game, a unique part of the Chieftain pre-game, and just another aspect that makes Football Fridays on the Hilltop special.

9. - Tomahawk Award Stickers. These stickers were first given out in the late-1960s. The decals have changed over time, but they decorate Chieftain helmets to this day.

8. - Hitting the "WIN" sign as the team leaves the locker room. The origin of the "WIN" sign is unknown, but every kid who walks into the locker room knows its importance. Even if you're walking out for gym class, it's hard not to put your fist on the sign.

7. - The Pre-Game Pile Jump. Following the run through "Tunnel 'L'," members of the Varsity football team form a mass of purple while the last couple of players, usually captains and seniors, jump on top of the pile to give final words of encouragement.

6. - Singing the LHS Fight Song at Mid-Field after every win. Following every win, the Chieftains gather at mid-field to sing the LHS Fight Song. This is especially sweet after victories over rivals on the road or after clinching the SEOAL title at home.

5. - Willie Dicken's "Touchdown, Logan." Following every Logan touchdown, two famous words shout over the loudspeakers at Bill Sauer Field, Touchdown, Logan.

4. - Fast Entrance. The Logan Marching Chieftains signature entrance. One of the most unique spectacles in all of high school sports. Helps define Friday Nights on the Hilltop.

3. - Victory Bell. We're still researching the origins of the LHS Victory Bell that rings out following every Chieftain Victory. Following the singing of the LHS Fight Song, the boys sprint to the East Gates to let the sweet sound of victory ring!

2. - Senior Walk. Starting by the Seniors of 2001, following the final home game, all the seniors join arms and take one final walk across Bill Sauer Field. Although it is a new tradition, it's one that has grown quickly. It's a bitter sweet moment and a fitting end to a long journey.

1. - Tunnel "L." If you talk to current or former players, they'll tell you there is no bigger rush than running through the Logan Marching Chieftain's "Tunnel 'L'" just before kick-off. With thousands of fans on their feet, it's one of the loudest moments of the evening.
